

About Keith Matthew

Keith Matthew is a member and former Chief of the Simpcw First Nation. Matthew served five years as Chief and five years as Councilor. Matthew has acted as lead negotiator with pipeline, hydro and mining companies for First Nation communities. An expert on First Nations relations in B.C., Matthew served as a political advisor to the former National Chief Phil Fontaine and has been a member of a number of internal and technical committees for various political organizations within the province. Matthew owns several businesses and is currently a principal for two other joint ventures in the area of heavy construction and surveying. Matthew holds an Associate Certificate from the British Columbia Institute of Technology's Venture Program and is a certified Aboriginal Economic Developer from the Council for the Advancement of Native Development Officers.